

MY REVIEW :

I would very much recommend this film. I thought it demonstrated well the emotions and general ambience during the time of war. I found the acting to be very well-played and that the scenes were so realistic that you could believe to be there yourself. I liked the way the scenario played out, the fact that it was as if Lee Miller was telling us herself and that we were in her head seeing the scenes unfold.

MY REVIEW :

I give this film a 5 out of 5 stars. The authenticity of the film is incredible. As we know, some moments of the film are quite hard to watch, but it really shows the reality of the war and also the history and how people suffered. The film also tells how the people who lived in the 1940's saw the rise and the brutality of Nazi Germany. Finally, it also shows why it is important to have reporters and journalists during a war, so that we never forget the mistakes of the past.

MY REVIEW :

This movie was really interesting because it talks about things that really happened. The story of a woman who witnessed that much and did a lot is really cool. The movie helps people to learn about the second world war. I'm just a little confused because when you already know the face of Lee Miller, it's a little bit disturbing, but that's all. I would add that the ending really surprised me because I didn't know her story so I loved it. I highly recommend this movie if you haven't seen it already !

MY REVIEW :

I really liked this movie. First, it shows the involvement of women in the war. Before that, they weren't included in it. But Lee Miller proved that women can also fight, and survive ! She never gave up and has always been brave. She really wants the world to see the sadness of the war. The movie shows the pain felt when we lose someone. The only bad thing I can say is that it was a bit too long.

MY REVIEW :

I've loved this movie : it is moving and beautiful. The message behind it is really strong and I have to admit that I cried. I was really moved by the reality of the war and the way Lee Miller talks about it. The part with her son are really sad too. I cried... again !
